AIIA Tasmania is a membership based institute, which brings together people and organisations with an interest in international affairs. We provide our members with an independent forum that allows them to interact in an open and impartial environment with business leaders, academics, diplomats, the media, non-governmental organisations, policy makers and researchers.

Members attend and participate in meetings, panel discussions, and seminars to discuss and debate the major foreign policy issues of our time. They receive the prestigious quarterly publication, "Australian Journal of International Affairs" and enjoy access to the various AIIA programs.
